

THE ARTABRA COAST PRIVATE DAY TOUR FROM SANTIAGO DE COMPOSTELA

Into the land of the Celtic kinds the Artabrians. On this Guided Tour of the Coast between A Coruña and Ferrol, North of Santiago de Compostela, you will dive deep into the Celtic roots of Galicia. Over the course of a day, we will be visiting the land of Breogán, son of Brath, known in oral Galician and Irish tradition to be the king of the region before the arrival of the Romans and for founding A Coruña and constructing the original Tower of Hercules, the oldest surviving lighthouse in the world still in activity. The landscape combines sea and mountains with a coastline of beautiful beaches, some that are sheltered, located inside the "rías", and others that are wild and open to the ocean as well as thriving cities.

During the day you will get to visit the traditional harbor village of Cedeira with its beautiful beaches of Vilarrube, Pantín and the wetlands of Valdoviño, the famous rural sanctuary and pilgrimage destination of San Andrés de Teixido, the spectacular 600m high cliffs of Garita de Herbeira, the seaside city of Ferrol and the harbour city of A Coruña including among other sights the Tower of Hercules.
